

APPARATUS AND METHOD FOR FOLDING PRODUCTS

Abstract of the Disclosure

The present invention includes a web folding apparatus that adheres the web to a belt. A gripping mechanism periodically grips the web from the belt. The action of the gripping ends the travel of the web on the belt and creates a first fold. The gripping mechanism releases the web to create a second fold. Consequently, a continuous web is folded into a zig-zag, continuous fold.